

IT Support for Distance Learning

We offer distance learning support. The distance learning delivery method requires a very solid platform to ensure that the content provides a good learning experience for your students. The system should be easy to use for both the students and the instructors.

PC Doctors has experience working with the different distance learning platforms and vendors. We also work on the distance learning delivery infrastructure including Internet connection setup, optimization, and repair. During this COVID-19 crisis, we are offering discounted rates for all our IT Services. Please contact us for more information.
